2010 was a challenging year economically for the country. But it also provided an opportunity for libraries to shine. Many libraries suffered a reduction in funding and services, yet remained committed to providing essential services to students, job-seekers, and families — support badly needed in struggling communities as evidenced by increased library usage throughout much of the country. At the Berkeley Public Library, thanks to community support, we maintained our regular library hours and essential services, and saw substantial increases in visits, borrowing, computer use, and program attendance.

This trend fuels our commitment to continue providing excellent services and programs to our community. Included is our commitment to make our branch libraries more vibrant and accessible places by taking full advantage of the Measure FF funds voters passed in 2008. The branch improvement projects are moving forward! By summer 2010, North and Claremont branch libraries were in the final stages of design with construction anticipated to begin in early 2011. While preserving and celebrating our historical resources, these neighborhood libraries will be transformed, becoming physically larger, operating more efficiently, and offering greater flexibility far into the future. They will shine as safe places where students of all ages find resources for formal and informal learning, places where families can offer their children one of the greatest advantages any child can have — early literacy.

Please join us in the coming year as we continue our journey to rejuvenate branch library services, creating memorable and state-of-the-art libraries in west and south Berkeley as we build your vision for the future.

Friends of the Library
The Friends of the Library is a non-profit membership organization whose purpose is to expand the educational, cultural, and outreach programs of the Library. This includes children’s reading events, lunchtime concerts, history lectures, and author talks. The Friends also provide library school scholarships to library staff, fund special projects, and have a program of staff recognition.

Berkeley Public Library Foundation
The mission of the Berkeley Public Library Foundation is “…to support our community’s knowledge and learning by enhancing library facilities, programs, and services.” The Neighborhood Libraries Campaign was launched by the Foundation in 2010 to assist with providing furniture and equipment as part of the Branch Improvement Program with the goal of raising $3.5 million. In addition, for nine years, the Foundation has celebrated the Bay Area’s vibrant literary community and raised funds through the annual Authors Dinner.

The Library served as a valuable resource for weathering the tough economy. Thousands took advantage of our online resources to help build their résumés and find jobs.

The Library is dedicated to bridging the “Digital Divide.” Nearly 200,000 individual sessions were logged by patrons at the 73 computers dedicated to Internet and public computing. We continue to offer basic computing classes all year long.

Berkeley Reads, the Library’s adult literacy program, helped over 217 individuals change their lives by improving their basic reading and writing skills with the assistance of 153 dedicated tutors.

In collaboration with the Public Health Division’s Vera Casey Teen Parenting Program, the Library engaged teen mothers in book discussions and craft activities.

The much-loved Spanish language Café Literario series of lectures and book discussions continued at the West Branch.

Dozens of sports enthusiasts were treated to two programs on how to follow soccer’s quadrennial World Cup.

The Library held 1,675 public programs at Library facilities and at other community locations, with a total of 40,692 persons in attendance.

Preschool and school–age audiences enjoyed 1,230 programs tailored especially to their interests.

Many jobseekers and business owners received free advice and business support in seminars presented in partnership with the Cal State East Bay Small Business Development Center.

Partnering with the Foundation Center, the Library held classes for individuals and nonprofits seeking grant funding.

Dedicated to connecting with the community, the Children’s Librarians visited every 2nd grade classroom in the public schools for a second year in a row.

The Summer Reading Program theme was Make a Splash, Read!, where 1,440 participating kids received hundreds of free prizes for their reading enthusiasm.

Berkeley’s Teen Services librarians imparted lifelong skills to seven high school students who were recruited, trained, and employed during an eight-month term.

Projections

In June 2010, the Berkeley City Council set the FY 2011 Library Services Tax rate to increase 1.7168% based on the San Francisco Bay Area CPI. The original FY 2011 budget was adopted by the Board of Library Trustees in June 2009 as part of the FY 2010 and FY 2011 Biennial Budget. Approved revisions to the FY 2011 budget continue to project an operating deficit in the Library Tax Fund offset by a favorable balance in the Fund due to prior years’ carryover; nonetheless, the Library remains vigilant in its efforts to bridge the gap between revenues and expenditures.

Major FY 2011 projects include a continuation of the Neighborhood Branch Library Improvement Program and the final sale of $16M in Measure FF bonds, as well as the replacement of the Library’s self-check system.
