

Our Resident Raptors

Peregrine falcons

Peregrine falcons are raptors, also known as birds of prey. They hunt and eat animals for food. Peregrine falcons are found throughout the world. They prefer to live in high places, like cliffs and even build nests in clock towers like UC Berkeley's Campanile!

From Britannica School, an online resource available at berkeleypubliclibrary.org